ARCH 1015.1 Architectural Excursions /// 7101 / 15:00-17:50

archi tectu ral.e xcu sion

The aim of the course is to facilitate students to interact closely and directly with the architecture in their own environment, enabling them to observe, investigate, interpret and analyse it. It aims to raise questions about various architectural contexts through a variety of encounters. Environmental issues are examined from a variety of perspectives, particularly from social, cultural, and historical points of view. The course will be conducted on excursions and visits.
